Effective Date: Construction begins 1/18/23 and is estimated to last through 2/1/23.

Ending Date: Until removed

Description/Map:

One bridge over Crabgrass Creek in Bull Creek WMA, south of Jane Green Camp, is being removed and replaced. Construction will begin on 1/18/23 and is expected to last throughout the month of February. Work crews will be on site.

Water levels may be passable where the bridges were but hikers should expect to encounter water at all times at this location and wading over waist deep may occur. If crews are available, they may be able to assist hikers across using a small boat but hikers should not plan on this option.

Hikers may use the alternative road walk around the closure if preferred.

From the south:

After crossing the stile from Forever Florida, take the white trail immediately. The white trail will connect you to Crabgrass Road at the Bull Creek check station. Follow that paved road until you reach 192. Heading east, follow the road to reconnect with the orange.
